It is two stories and basement in height and contains the Sunday school and rooms for the young people connected with the various societies of the church. In the basement there is a fine gymnasium. The building is constructed of brick with stone trimmings. It is of handsome design and one of the most attractive buildings devoted to religious work in the city. Its cost is about $30,000. Joseph F. Rodgers, was the contractor.

Program For Tomorrow Night's Concert is Announced.

The recital is to be given by Mrs. Annie Stanton Cox, of Washington, who has a rich contralto voice full of melody, a most pleasing personality and an abundance of temperament and skill which comes only with conscientious study and training.

Mr. Alfred Eldridge, of Washington will be the accompanist.

Miss Caroline Kast, whose violin strain so sensitively sweet lingers from Sunday to Sunday with St. Paul's congregation, wil lrender a selection.

The young ladies of the guild will act as ushers to each attendant with gracious courtesy and the entertainment promises an attractive evening to those who patronize it. Besides being worthy of benefit, as the proceeds are to be devoted to the Chapel of the Good Shepherd.

This width, this quality and these popular stripes you may look for elsewhere at our price of tomorrow, but you will not find them duplicated.

They are not remnants, they are to be cut from the full bolt as long as the full bolts last, tomorrow.

They are al lsize stripes, from the tiny pin stripe up to the blazer stripe, in the Pekin and unusual stripes.

But we have them only in the following colors:

A misunderstanding of an order by the manufacturers caused them to make up an over supply of these three shades. Fortunately they are three of the most popular colors in striped materials, and when the manufacturers notified us of the surplus we gladly took lot at the reduced price at which they were offered.

GLORIOUS EASTER DAY.

Bright Sunshine and Pleasant Southerly Breezes Accompany Great Feast.

Services appropriate to Easter in the different churches yesterday were of the usual interesting and instructive nature, and the places of worship were well-attended.

In the Catholic, Episcopal and Lutheran churches, where Easter rituals were used, the services were of the most inspiring nature, while in others, where the church calendar is not observed, sermons appropriate to the day were delivered, and Easter music rendered.

The Easter parade, after the close of the churches, was thought by many to be the largest ever witnessed on previous occassions. The spirit of the day was manifest until the sun was setting behind the western hills.

The pageant was kept on King street throughout the afternoon the thoroughfares havnig been thronged with young and old.

Easter has always enjoyed the privilege of roaming more or less at random over the calendar, but, nevertheless, it obeys one of the oldest laws man ever devised. This is that the first Sunday after the first full moon following the vernal equinox shall be Easter. To put it another way, Easter comes on the first Sunday after the first full moon after March 21. As a movable feast day it has a wide range from its observance, but it must fall between March 22 and April 25, inclusive. Usually you may depend upon it to work out so that Easter comes where it properly belongs, but this year it was a case of the vernal equinox, full moon and Sunday following so close upon each other's heels that the holiday was at hand before anybody, much less the weather, was really ready for it.

If you were to take the Fourth of July and present it to the 90,000,000 or so citizens of this land in mid-June, or if you were to grant them Christmas and all that goes with it early in December, the upheaval will be no greater than it will be when Easter makes its untimely appearance in the stormy, cold, cheerless and altogether unliked and disagreeable month of March—the month of the great blizzard of '88 and other disagreeable things. Back in 1761 the festival came on the first possible day, March 22, and again in 1818. In the last 125 years it has made its appearance on March 23 only three times, once in 1788, again in 1845 and again in 1856. Not until after the year 2,000 will it again crowd so closely upon the heels of winter. There may be some consolation in looking forward to the year 1916, when the date will be just one month later, April 23.

MAY BE GIVEN A CHANCE

Juvenile Burglars Lindy to Be Sent to Relatives Living Out of the City.

The case of Edward Wells and Eugene Craddock, the two youths who were brought before the Police Court on Saturday for burglary committed last Friday night, and who were sentenced to the reform school, may be given an opportunity to redeem themselves provided arrangement can be made ta place them at home of relatives or friends outside the city of Alexandria where they can remain until they reach manhood.

This procedure is occassionally adopted when parents satisfy the court that they will be responsible for the conduct of their offspring during their majority and where they will be separated from companions in crime.

Experience has shown that in all cases where youngsters have been removed from the influence of companions and placed in isolated rural homes that upon reaching years of discretion they have given the authorities no further trouble.

On the other hand, boys who have served in the reform school have often returned to their homes and repeated crimes for which they have been handled by the grand jury.

FIGHT AGAINST BREWERY.

Efforts Being Made to Prevent License to Arlington Brewery.

A determined effort is being made by the Anti-Saloon League of Alexandria county, to prevent the renewal of the license of the Arlington Brewing Company, whose brewery is located at Rosslyn, at the end of the Aqueduct Bridge. The question of new license is now being considered by Judge J. B. T. Thornton, judge of the circuit court who will make his decision known at the April session of court.

A committee of five has been appointed by the league to place the matter before Judge Thornton and it is said that they have secured a large volume of evidence showing that the brewing company is not entitled to have its license renewed.

Baby Carriages and Go-Carts

In the selection of baby Carriages and Go-Carts mothers cannot exercise too much care and thought; the most trivial things often result disastrously to the baby, and the carriage or Go-Cart should be safe, strong, and sanitary.

From the several noted makers producing our lines we secure their very best, and often exert our influence in having some particular feature improved and constructed so as to afford more practical and better service. Some of the vehicles which are on our floor are after special designs and patterns submitted by us, and embody ideas which we have gained through actual experience with our patrons.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION.

BISHOP WILSON AT OLD HOME.

Preaches in Winchester, Where His Father Was Pastor.

Winchester, Va., March 24.—Bishop Alpheus W. Wilson, senior bishop of the Methodist Episcapal Church, South, of Baltimore, preached an Easter sermon yesterday morning in Braddock Street church, of which Rev. Dr. J. W. Duffey is pastor.

The Bishop is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rice. Atthough he was quite fatigued upon his arrival here a few nights ago, he has recovered much of his strength. Bishop Wilson's youth was spent in Winchester His father, the late Rev. Norval Wilson, having been twice pastor here.

Bishop Wilson will remain here until Tuesday, when he will go to Staunton if his health permits, to attend the sessions of the Baltimore annual Conference, which is to be presided over by Bishop John C. Kilgo. Bishop Collins Denny, of Richmond, whose father, the late Col. William R. Denny, was a resident of this city, is also expected to attend the meeting of the conference in Staunton.

PAYLOR'S PLEA REFUSED.

Taken to Jail Pending Removal To Penitentiary.

Danville, Va., March 24.—William S. Paylor, formerly city treasurer, convicted of embezzling $9,000 of the State's funds, was on Saturday taken into custody by the court sheriff and placed in the city jail to await the arrival of the Richmond penitentiary guard to take him and a number of other convicted felons there to serve his sentence of eighteen months in the penitentiary.

Paylor's counsel made an effort to obtain a new stay of sentence, but he was overruled and the prisoner was taken in charge.

FOUND HANGING TO TREE.

Circumstances Lead to Belief of Murder.

Roanoke, Va., March 24.—Owing to the severe windstorm which swept Bluefield and the vicinity a few days ago interrupting telephone and telegraph connection, the report of the finding of an unidentified body hanging to a tree five miles east of Bluefield early Friday morning, did not reach here until Saturday.

On the dead man's person were found letters from different parts of Virginia, several of which had been received at Roanoke, indicating that he had been in Roanoke several days last week. He was well dressed, his clothing having been made in London, England. His name appears to be William F. Danks.

Wednesday he arrived in Bluefield and rode in an automobile to the residence of Mr. Brown, on the Princeton Road, and told him that he had formerly owned the "Hailstone Poultry Farm," at Boulevard, New Kent County, on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Roalroad, that he had sold it a few days ago for $3,000, and that he was looking for a location. He said that he distrusted banks and that he was carrying with him all he had. He brought in an automomobile hack his sheet iron truck, a small valise and a small tin box, and spent part of the day with Mr. Brown. He took a great deal of interest in Mr. Brown's poultry and gave Brown several poultry books. He seemed to be well versed in poultry.

He said he was a boilermaker by trade and he wanted to buy a place near town so he could work as boilermaker, and run the poultry place too.

His body was found hanging to the limb of an oak tree. His neck was broken, but both of his feet touched the ground, and there is no indication of his having struggled any whatever after the fall, and his fall was less than two feet. There was little to indicate that he had hanged himself. Not a cent was found on him, and if it was true that he had the money on him from the sale of the farm, it is plain that he was murdered.

Boys Witness Murder.

Three boys, the oldest 12 years, told the Belfast, Me., police yesterday that they witnessed the murder of their mother by their father at their home Thursday night. They are the sons of Emery Danforth, a coal dealer, who is missing. The body of the woman, who had been beaten to death, was found in a bedroom. The police think Danforth drowned himself, but are searching for him.

THE ALLEN CASE.

Attorneys for Condemed to Make Last Effort Today.

The last chance to save the life of Claude Swanson Allen, who, with Sidna Allen, participated in the shooting up of the courthouse at Hillsville, Va., and who has been sentenced to die in the electric chair on Friday next, will today be either realized or lost for all time, as a result of the efforts to be made by two attorneys in Washington to represent him. Appeal after appeal has been made, without success, to Governor Mann of Virginia, who has positively refused to interfere in the carrying out of the court's sentence, and to justices of the Supreme Court in Washington, who have also declined to issue the writ of error which would grant the condemned man a new trial for his life. The last effort will be concluded today.

Attorneys D. C. O'Flaherty and George Hanson, who for several days have been attempting to secure the writ, will try once more to convince those of the justices of the Supreme Court who have not already turned a deaf ear to their plea that young Allen is deserving of another trial.

Chief Justice White and Justice Hughes Saturday refused to grant the writ, and it is considered unlikely that any other justice will do so today.

The attorneys base their plea on the fact that, as they claim, their client has been "twice placed in jeopardy" for the same offense, in violation of the Federal Constitution.

If this should fail they shall try to gain a new trial on the claim that young Allen did not have the impartial jury, which is guaranteed by the Constitution.

Two to Die Friday.

Richmond, Va., March 24.—Superintendent Wood, of the State Penitentiary, will issue invitations early this week to the 12 men who will be asked to serve as the jury to legally witness the execution of Floyd Allen and his son, Claude Swanson Allen.

They will be put to death next Friday for the shooting of Commonwealth's Attorney W. M. Foster in the Hillsvile courtroom on March 14, 1912.

The jurymen are selected from the applications made from time to time and each is required to promise that no statement relative to the scenes in the death chamber will be given to the press. Usually the jury is composed of one or more preachers of the faith of the condemned men, relatives if they desire to attend and prison authorities.

No extra preparations will be made for the execution, which will be the first double execution of white persons in the history o fthe State. The younger probably will go to the chair first.

Washington, March 24.—A last, desperate but almost hopeless effort to save Floyd Allen and his son, Claude, the Hillsville outlaws from the electric chair was made today by their attorneys.

Not disheartened by the refusal of Chief Justice White and Justice Hughes of the Supreme Court to grant an appeal to their clientcs, sentenced to die Friday at Richmond, the lawyers today proposed to personaly plead with every other justice of the Supreme bench. That the two mountaineers have thrice been put in jeopardy for a single crime in being tried successively for the murder of Judge Massie and other victims of the Hillsville court house shooting is the ground upon which the Allen's lawyers are asking a review by the Supreme Court upon a writ of error and a supersedeas bond to stay the execution scheduled Friday.

Supreme Court ataches declared today that it was possible, but improbable, that some justice of the high court would grant the Allen's appeal after its rejection by Chief Justice White and Justice Hughes.

The Allen's attorneys were present before the Supreme Court, but did not present any further appeal in open court. They said they hoped to present their plea for the mountaineers before the other justices this afternoon.

King George Lying in State.

Salonika, March 24.—For three hours today the residents of Salonika, in a steady procession, passed by the bier of the murdered King George to look at his body, lying in state in the palace. Many of those who passed the coffin wept unrestrainedly. In the throng were Moslems and Greeks.

King Constantine today conferred with officers of the armyg, giving instructions for holding the captured city while the body of the late king is being escorted to Athens for the funeral. King Constantine and Prince Nicholas will accompany the body. They plan to reach Athens on Thursday.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Charred Body of Colored Man Found in His Cabin.

Culpeper, Va., March 24.—The charred body of Romeo Briggs, a colored man, who lived on the Afton Road, was found in the ruins of his house, which burned to the ground last Wednesday night. "Uncle Romy," as he was familiarly called, had in his early life been a slave, belonging to the well known Georg family, of Culpeper, but, marrying a freed woman had his own freedom bought for his wife. Since the death of his wife he had lived in his little cabin by the road, resolutely refusing to have any one live with him, but looked after by his and daughter-in-law, a most respectable couple who lived nearby. For years "Uncle Romy" had been one of the trusted servants of the late Colonel Slaughter Bradford, so well-known throughout Virginia.

FATALLY SHOT.

Gloucester Youth Dies From Loss of Blood.

Norfolk, Va., March 24.—William Dudley, jr., of Gloucester, died at St. Vincents Hospital last night from a gun shot wound accidentally inflicted Saturday, when he was duck hunting. After physicians there were unable to stop the flow of blood, the young man was brought to Norfolk in a fast motor boat, arriving here about noon today. He was put upon the operating table, and the bleeding was stopped but the loss of blood had been so great he was unable to survive. He died at 11 o'clock.

With his eight-year-old brother Herbert, for a companion, young Dudley started out duck hunting. After paddling across the river he got out a a blind on the marshes. As he pulled the gun towards him, muzzle first, the hammer caught in a piece of wire on the boat, and the gun was discharged, the load of shot striking him in the right hip.

Economy looks like an up-hill game when you first begin, and sometimes it is an up-hill game; but it is the ROAD TO PROSPERITY, and if you can persevere in your small economies you will find this out. Your extravagance does not draw interest. Some day you will pay interest on your present extravagance. If you put that money in the BANK NOW, you can some day afford to buy the luxuries you crave without missing the money.

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known liquid eczema remedy, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.D.D. Prescription.

We have sold other remedies for skin troubles but none that we can recommend as highly as this for we know that D.D.D. stops the itch at once. We can give you a trial size bottle for 25 cents that will be enough to prove it.

Of course all other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee:—If you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.

DIFFICULTY IN SECURING DIPLOMATS.

President Wilson is experiencing difficulty in securing diplomatic timber, several able and representative men having declined posts of honor which have been tendered them. Mr. Wilson is realizing the truth of the oft-repeated statement that representatives of the United States to foreign courts must, of necessity, be wealthy men, as the salaries they receive will not, in many cases, pay their house rent in London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, and other European capitals.

Whitelaw Reid is said to have paid $25,000 a year rent for a house in London. His salary was $16,000.

Court life costs too much money for men of moderate means, and not every wealthy man who is fitted for a diplomatic post, is willing to bear the expense for the honor.

In the early life of our nation representatives from this country to foreign court often experienced discomfort from the fact that they could not keep up with ministers from other nations.

Benjamin Franklin and others had much with which to contend when they played the part of ministers. Horace Greely was sent as representative to England shortly after the civil war. Later, during a reception to foreign representatives in Washington, Greely, made his appearance without being attired in court dress, and a servant who was stationed at the door ordered him away when he approached as a suspicious character.

Richard Olney, ambassador to Great Britain.

Charles W. Eliot, ambassador to Great Britain.

William McCombs, ambassador to France.

John R. Mott, minister to China.

The President declares that the diplomatic service of the United States is necessarily hampered by the fact that only men who have time and means to leave their business find themselves able to serve the government abroad.

CRIME SHOWN IN MOVING PICTURES.

Some weeks ago Councilman Birrell introduced a resolution in Council prohibiting the showing in Alexandria of scenes of crime in moving pictures. His resolution is now in the hands of a committee where it will probably remain unless some strong effort is made to secure a report. In the meanwhile Mayor Fitzgerald, of Boston, has notified the moving picture houses of that city that the display at their entrances depicting scenes of crime, will no longer be allowed. In a circular letter to moving picture managers, Mayor Fitzgerad says:

"Your attention is called to the continued and growing practice of displaying painted pictorial banners outside the entrances of many moving picture halls in this city that are licensed by me. These banners, etc., depict scenes of robbery, safe-breaking, stage robberies, murder, suicide and other crimes, with the result that the minds of the passersby, particularly children, are excited.

"In view of the effect exercised upon the morals of the community by advertising of this character, I have this day ordered that notice be sent to the management of every moving picture hall prohibiting the display of any painted pictorial banner at the entrance of these places of amusement unless the sketch or drawing of such banner has been submitted to me and approved.

"A violation of this order will be deemed a sufficient cause for the suspension or revocation of your license."

HOSPITAL NOTES.

The condition of John Fitzgerald, the negro laborer, who was injured by being caught beneath a slide of phosphte rock at the plant of the Alexandria Fertilizer and Chemical Company Saturday, is considered good, although he is suffering greatly from several bone fractures. Another negro, James Wanza, victim of the accident, was discharged from the hospital Sunday morning, he having recovered sufficiently to leave.

Miss Ollie M. Puryear, of 511 Prince street, is convalescent, after an operation for appendicitis, and will be able to go home this week.

Mrs. Wm. H. Quinn, of 226 north St. Asaph street, will be able to leave the hospital soon.

G. W. Simms, of Springfield, Va., operated on last week, is convalescing slowly.

Q. N. R. Steele, who was operated on, is getting along satisfactorily.

Mrs. Taylor's condition is unimproved.

Mrs. W. H. Woodfield is convalescent.

Little Virginia Thompson, also Mrs. Welch, were admited as patients this morning.

S. L. Whitesell, of Oakton, Va., operated on recently, is convalescent.

Mrs. Caleb Burnell is very much improved in health.

Clifton Reece, colored, who had a leg managled by a train at Manassas Friday, is getting along well.

Friends of the Alexandria Hospital are making plans for the holding of a fair some time early in May. The proceeds of the fair are for the benefit of the proposed new hospital building.

SELECTIONS KEPT SECRET.

Washington, March 24.—Until the return of Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan on Wednesday, President Wilson will hold the question of diplomatic appointments in obeyance. He has determined that there shall be no more premature announcements of selections for the important posts abroad and will endeavor to keep selections for the important posts abroad and will endeavor to keep selections secret until the candidates have accepted. This action is necessary, the President believes, in order that the impression shall not prevail abroad that the important ambassadorial and ministerial positions are not being used as footballs of politics.

The President had nothing today to add to his statement made last night in which he deplored the fact that owing to the exactions of the diplomatic service only rich men can assume the more important posts. The fact that he himself is dependant on his salary lent particular emphasis to the declaration of the executive.

The only position in the diplomatic service so far settled is that of Minister to Mexico for which Post George W. Guthrie of Pennsylvania, is slated. Even that selection may be overturned when Bryan gets back as it may become advisable to send Mr. Guthrie elsewhere.

One suggestion to relieve the situation is that the salaries of the ambasadors be increased to $50,000 and other posts in proportion but such relief at this time is admittedly impossible with Congres continuing in an economical mood.

THE DEBUTANTE.

Lent is past, the season's on,
And now the folks will seize
The chance to hold cotillions,

Of seeing plays and playing bridge
The girls will find no want,
It is the heyday season
For the little debutante.

Just turned out last Fall, she finds
Life a round of pleasure,
Happiness has been her lot,
Joy without measure,
She can go all afternoon and
Dance till night is gone,
Then early rise and start again
And keep it up 'till dawn.

So pretty debutante,
Young and full of grace,
Leads the hapless chaperones
Quite a merry race,
But, why not, for hasn't this
Sprightly little queen
Got the youth and spirit that
Belong to fair nineteen?

If you happened to owe him money, would City Engineer Dunn you for it?

If Rex Beach dug gold in Alaska has Jim Douglass in Alexandria?

But whether on earth or in Heaven or Hades,

NEWS OF THE DAY.

All the seashore resorts in the south of England have suffered great damage as the result of a storm of tremendous force that has been raging for two days. At times the wind reached a velocity of eighty miles an hour. The high tides blown up flooded innumerable properties. The great iron pier at Worthing has been almost entirely destroyed.

Austria has delivered at Cettinje a thinly veiled ultimatum to Montenegro, threatening that if the civil population of Scutari were not allowed to leave the city, the dual monarchy would take coercive measures to compel compliance with its wishes. Italy took a similar action, but without expressing any threat, and Russia, the friend of Montenegro, advised the Montenegrin government to accede to Austria's demand.

Called out of church by an usher while attending divine services at Waynesville, N. C., yesterday morning, Henry Sorrells walked into a fusillade of bullets fired by his cousin, Hardy Sorrells. Three of the bullets took effect, the victim dying almost instantly in front of the church. Witnesses state that no words passed between the two men prior to the shooting. They assert that Hardy Sorrels began firing as soon as his cousin appeared in the doorway of the church. It is reported that the killing is the aftermath of a violent quarrel between the two men several weeks ago. The slayer was arrested about two hours after the killing and lodged in jail. He refused to make any statement.

Hurling scores from their beds, tearing a 5-foot hole in the second floor hallway, and wrecking every bit of plaster and glass in the building, the heaviest Black Hand bomb yet exploded in this city was detonated early yesterday in front of the bedroom door of Giovanni Tuse, a prosperous baker, living on the second floor of the five-story tenement house on the northwest corner of Stanton and Forsythe streets New York. This is the fiftieth Black Hand outrage of the sort since January 1.

Bodies of four persons were found early yesterday in the ruins of the home of Lee Wharton, on New Brooklyn road, Williamstown, N. J., and tell tale evidence of an appalling tragedy was revealed when a searching party found bullet holes in the forms of the dead and a charred shotgun nearby. Lee Wharton, his wife and daughter, and John Kenthill, foreman of a nearby farm, were victims of the tragedy. From the little evidence Coroner Stultz has obtained, the police theory is that Wharton found Kenthill in his home, and that a desperate fight followed; that Wharton killed his rival for his wife's love, and burned his home, dying within its ruins to hide the crime.

"Dick" Lane, familiarly known as "Dead Eye Dick, who for 40 years led the life of a criminal, serving five prison terms, and who for the last 16 years had engaged in evangelistic work, died Saturday in Chicago, the victim of a thug he had sought to reform. A few weeks ago Lee took home with him a man who had started out for a night's work as a pickpocket. He talked with him and thought he had him started on the right path. A few days later this same man returned with three thugs, and the quartet assaulted and robbed Lane and fled. He became converted in Chicago while attending a mission a few hours after he had been ordered by the police to leave the city. He went to H. H. Kohlsaat and told his story. Mr. Kohlsaat believed in his sincerity and gave him employment as a janitor. He was about 74 years old.

William Diass walked into Sheriff Brush's office at Riverhead, N. Y., yesterday, and stood waiting, hat in hand, while the sheriff finished a conversation with another visitor. Finally the sheriff asked Diass what he wanted. "Why, I just killed my wife," Diass coolly responded. He led the sheriff to his house where his wife was found dead with five bullet wounds in her body. Diass declared the shooting was in self defense. "She chased me with a knife and ran me into a corner, where I had to shoot to keep her from killing me,' he said. Diass is 48 years old and his wife less than 30.

A rather unique Easter service was held yesterday at the United Brethren church, in South Cumberland, Md., brought about by the paying off of the church debt. A large painted elephant, representing the debt, was one of the features of the service, the other feature being the decorations of the church—one-dollar notes collected by members of the congregation to pay off the church debt.

A weapon for firing asphyxiating bombs, devised after the recent siege of automobile bandits in their strongholds ,was used for the first time today in the capture of a negro who became suddenly mad and ran amuck in the Auteuil quarter, Paris, threatening with a loaded revolver everyone he met.Detectives chased the man from room to room in a house where he had taken refuge, firing gas bombs. The fugitive was finally cornered on the roof in a state of semi-asphyxiation. He was quite powerless and was transferred to a hospital.

The Congress of Labor party ratified in Brussels yesterday the order for a general strike, to be called April 14, issued by the national committee on universal suffrage. The action of the national committee was due to the refusal of the government to give consideration to electoral reform before the coming elections.

After solemnly promising that he would never again tickle her feet, Mrs. Edythe Esther Purdy, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., withdrew her suit for divorce against her husband Dr. John A. Purdy, and has returned to him. The wife charges extreme cruelty, the chief example of which was her husband's habit of tickling her feet, causing her great mental and physical anguish.

Jilted because an attack of asthma made her too skinny to suit the plump tastes of her former admirer, Miss Bessie Knapp, of Milwaukee, yesterday recovered a verdict of $3,500 against Dr. James Jensen, a dentist, for breach of promise. The suit was for $5,000. Miss Knapp, who is a school teacher at Black Wolf, testified that she first met Jansen when she came to Milwaukee on a visit to a girl friend. After her return home she got letters from Dr. Jansen, and shortly afterwards they became engaged.

LATE GENERAL STUART.

Mosby Tells His Personal Recollections of Leader.

Richmond, Va., March 24.—General J. E. B. Stuart brought about a revolution in the use of cavalry and adapted it to modern conditions of war, according to Colonel John S. Mosby, who writes his personal recollections of Stuart in the April Munsey's. "He was the first," writes Colonel Mosby, "to see that in modern warfare the chief function of cavalry should be preliminary to the battle, and that mounted charges of cavalry against infantry are, or should be, ancient history."

Many reminiscences of the famous cavalry leader are given by Colonel Mosby. He tells of his first personal meeting, on the Rapidan, with Stuart, who said: "General Johnston wants to know if this is McClellan's army, or only a detachment." Colonel Mosby replied that he would find out if he could get a guide. "Here is one," replied General Stuart. The man's name, adds Colonel Mosby, was Mort Weaver, who died recently in the Soldiers' Home in Richmond.

Colonel Mosby was practicing law in Bristol, Va., when the war began. He had been there two years. The town was brand new, and he was its first lawyer. "I have always," he says, "claimed the redit of discovering it."

He thinks the premature movement of A.P. Hill's Corps to the Potomac on June 24, 1863, defeated a plan of Stuart's to break up Hooker's communications and isolate Washington. "This," says Colonel Mosby, "would have been the most brilliant achievement in war since Bonaparte came down on the rear of the Austrians in the valley of the Po." No event of the war, he adds, has been so much misrepresented as this.

"On a summer morning a solitary man was seen beside the grave of Stuart, in Hollywood cemetery, in Richmond. The dew was on the grass; the birds sang overhead. The green hillock at the man's feet was all that remained of the daring leader of the Southern cavalry who, after all his toils, this battles and the shock of desperate encounters, had come here to rest in peace. Beside this unmarked grave the solitary mourner remained long, pondering and remembering. Finally he plucked a wild flower, dropped it upon the grave, and, with tears in his eyes, left the spot. This lonely mourner at the grave of Stuart was Mosby."

ATTEMPT TO MURDER FAMILY.

While 1, 500 persons attended mass at St. Agnes' Church Arlington, Mass., yesterday morning, William A. McDonald, well known as an engineering expert, walked impatiently up and down in front of the edifice.

As the strains of the recessional were concluded and the big doors were thrown open, McDonald took a position to one side and watched the outpouring throng closely.

Presently his wife and three children came out, and without a word McDonald stepped up to them, drew a razor from his pocket and slashed her throat.

Attracted by the sterames of hundreds of frightened women, several men ran forward as McDonald tried to catch his eldest daughter by the throat. James Kenna knocked McDonald down with a blow on the jaw, and then jumped upon him, taking away the razor.

Mrs. McDonald was carried into the nearby office of a physician, but it was found that death had resulted almost instantly, the razor almost severing her head from her body.

At the police station McDonald confessed he had been planning the spectacular murder for many months, and had intended to kill his wife and children at Christmas, but he was taken ill.

The couple formerly lived at Arlington, but two years ago, after repeated quarrels, McDonald left home and has been living in Boston, sending monthly remittances for the support of his wife and children. He said his wife would not let him see the children as often as he wished, and that he decided to end it all, killing the children as well as his wife. He had not been drinking, according to the police.

Another parade, is it announced, is being planned by the executive committee of the National American Woman's Suffrage Association for April 7, when the extra session of Congress convenes. This time the parade will be neither so long nor so elaborate as the one marred by disorder in the streets on March 3. Five hundred and thirty-one women, including representatives from each Congressional district and from each state at large will march to the Capitol, where they will present to the members of Congress their arguments and petitions in favor of equal suffrage. The parade will be immediately after a mass-meeting in one of the local theatres.

touch with the Des Moines office and learned that a message just received from Omaha stated that five blocks had been blown down there, that one of the telephone exchanges was destroyed and two operators and a switchboardman were killed.

The Des Moines operator said that no estimate of the loss of life was possible at that time.

The southern part of Chicago lay in the path of the storm. More than a score of dwellings were blown down or unroofed. The east side police station was tossed from its foundation and twenty policemen fled in alarm. No one was hurt there.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 42—Twenty persons were killed, three hundred persons were injured, many fatally, and three hundred houses were wrecked by a cyclone which swept the southern part of Terre Haute late last night.

The nearby villages of Perth and Prairieton were wiped out, with what loss of life could not be determined early today.

By a freak Perth was wiped out but no one was killed out right. Louis Foster, a child of seven years, was injured about the head, fatally, it is feared.

In Terre Haute twenty dead bodies have been taken out of the wreckage. The police at 7:40 a. m. estimated that a total of thirty were killed, mostly as they slept. The cyclone cut through the city in a northerly direction, leveling everything in its path

The city was in darkness except when the fire that destroyed the big Boot Glass factory lit up the scene.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 24.—Prairieton, a village of 400, six miles south of here, was wiped out by last night's storm. It has been impossible to get into communication with the place by wire and the roads are impassable. It is feared that the loss of life was heavy.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 24—Three persons were killed and 22 injured in a cyclone which devastated Bonifay, Fla., last night. The storm crossed from Alabama wrecking ten houses near Mobile.

Two children of H. B. Rucker and theirf grandmother were among the dead at Bonifay. Their home was crushed over their heads.

At Graceville, Fla., eight persons were injured and ten houses demolished.

Want Women Released.

London, March 24.—Friends today urged Home Secretary McKenna to release Miss Zelie Emerson, the American suffragette who is alleged to be in a precarious condition in Holloway jail because of forcible feeding.

Miss Emerson, whose mother is a wealthy American was the intimate companion of Miss Sylvia Pankhurst and was arrested with the daughter of the militant leader twice last month.

Like Miss Pankhurst Miss Emerson declared a hunger strike when she was ordered to prison two months for window-smashing.

SHE GAVE UP ALL HOPE

Meetze, Va.—Mrs. J. C. Green of this place, says: "I suffered with womanly troubles so that I could hardly sit up. Two of the best doctors in our town treated me, and I tried different medicines, until I gave up all hope of ever getting well.

One day, I decided to try some Cardui. It did so much for me that I ordered some more, and it cured me! Today, I feel as well as I ever did in my life.

"The pains and the trouble are all gone. I feel like another person in every way. I wish every sufferer could know what Cardui will do for sick women."

It tones up the nervous system, and helps make pale cheeks fresh and rosy. Thousands of weak women have been restored to health and happiness by using Cardui. Suppose you try it.

It may be just the medicine you need.
